About Me

I am a Data Science student who is eager to gain real-world experience and learn from practical industry work. Through my school projects, I have worked with data analysis and developed a strong interest in how data can be used to solve problems and support decision making. I enjoy learning new concepts and tools in data science and am highly motivated to apply my skills, improve continuously, and contribute as a dedicated intern.

Volunteer Experience

Cambodia Blockchain Summit Mar - Apr 2025

I have been volunteering with CBS as a member of the Event Flow Team. Through this experience, I have developed a variety of soft skills such as communication, teamwork, and time management, as well as technical skills related to event planning and coordination. Volunteering has also allowed me to meet many inspiring people and expand my professional network.

RYL Cambodia S16 May 2025

I volunteered as a salesperson at the RYL event. Through this experience, I improved my communication and persuasion skills, learned how to engage with customers, and developed greater confidence in presenting products and handling sales transactions.
